Wilson Stefano, Jr.

Wilson Stefano Jr. (STEFANO), a principal with Oliver Wight since 1998, has over 25 years of "hands-on" experience in the manufacturing industry. He has coached management teams during the journey to business excellence in the development and execution of the plans to achieve "Class A Business Excellence".

Stefano specializes in Integrated Business Management and Integrated Supply Chain Management - "Best Practices". He supports organizations in Brazil and Latin America in the self-assessment, implementation, and continuous improvement of their integrated business management processes that includes the Strategic Planning process; the S&OP – Sales and Operations Planning process; the Master Planning process; the Business Improvement process which includes the lean manufacturing concept; the Demand Management process; the Shop Floor Control process; and the Supplier Relationship Management process. He began his professional career in 1979 in the automotive industry.

His degree is in Business Administration with a specialization in Business Management. Currently he is pursuing his master's degree at a Brazilian University - UNICAMP – Universidade Estadual de Campinas, in the Faculdade de Engenharia Mecânica Department. He frequently speaks at events in Brazil – SAP FORUM; Supply Chain Council – Chapter Brazil; and the International Institute of Research.
